Help Shape Curb Access and Parking in the City

The City of North Vancouver is exploring the development of a Curb Access & Parking Plan to make access to curb space more reliable, inclusive and equitable for different people in our City.

We're engaging community members to share their thoughts on how our curbs are working today, and where improvements could be made.

WE'RE GATHERING INPUT

Share your thoughts on this project from Nov 20 to Dec 11.

PRIMARY INITIATIVES BEING REVIEWED AS PART OF THE CURB ACCESS + PARKING PLAN

- Pay parking in high-demand areas
- Resident & Visitor Parking Policy
- Loading Zones
- Accessible parking
- Car-share parking and other special uses
- Electric vehicle charging opportunities

PROJECT TIMELINE

The first step of the plan development is to gather input from the community to understand what is working well on our curbs, and what needs to be reassessed.

After the first phase of engagement, staff will develop policy directions and work with the community in the spring of 2024 to refine the Plan. Staff will bring the final plan to Council next summer.

ENGAGE - LISTEN

Establish baseline conditions and understand needs

WINTER
2023

ENGAGE - VALIDATE

Validate a draft Plan with internal and external stakeholders

SPRING
2024

FINALIZE THE PLAN

Refine the Plan and finalize with Council

SUMMER
2024

DELIVER THE PLAN

Deliver the Plan with ongoing, phased, local engagement

FALL
2024 ONWARDS

It's important to note that no decisions have been made, and that if Council directs staff to make any changes to curb regulations, that implementation will be phased.
